Seven New Members Added to Faculty

Albert Merriman of Gallipolis Ohio, an Instructor in Latin at Harvard, has been appointed Instructor in Classical Languages at Trinity College.

Mr. Merriman is a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy and Harvard University, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He received his master's degree from Harvard in 1937, and also studied at the University of Chicago. He expects to receive his doctorate from Harvard in January. In 1933-4 Mr. Merriman held a fellowship from the Ecole Normale d'Instituteurs, Macon, France. He served as Instructor in French and teaching fellow in Greek at Harvard from 1935 to 1939.

During the war he served with the Ninth Air Force in the European theater and was awarded the Croix de Guerre by the French government. He then returned to Harvard for further graduate study, and was appointed Instructor in Latin there.

Nicholas F. Pedersen of Bakersville, New Hartford has been appointed Assistant Professor of Engineering at Trinity.

Mr. Pedersen, a mechanical and industrial design engineer, was graduated from the Stevens Institute of Technology in 1936. Since his graduation he has been employed in several firms in New Jersey and Connecticut as an engineer, and was a partner in the Hartford industrial design firm of Hadley, Ryder and Pedersen.

Mr. Pedersen taught part-time at Stevens Institute and has been teaching at Trinity in the extension division since January 1947. He will teach engineering materials, fluid mechanics and engineering drawing.

Eugene Wood Davis of Chapel Hill, N.C., has been appointed Instructor in History at Trinity College.

Mr. Davis, a native of Houston, Texas, formerly taught Social Science at the University of North Carolina. He received his master's degree from Harvard in 1941, and then entered the Army. Serving as a first lieutenant in the Coast Artillery and Infantry, he was sent to the Pacific theater. Upon

Chairman E. F. Mason Launches 1948 Trinity Chest Campaign

Trinity Quota Set at $4,036

Edwin F. Mason, Chairman of the Greater Hartford Community Chest Campaign, spoke to the student body yesterday at the mass meeting in the Chemistry Auditorium. He told of the increased needs of the thirty-three Chest agencies and praised the excellent campaign work of Trinity College teams in Community Chest drives of previous years and also complimented the students on the excellent results they have obtained in the past.

Team B-17 is the official designation for the Trinity College team which ranked first in 1946 and third in 1947 in the group of eighty teams canvassing all of the Greater Hartford area.

This year Team B-17, with a total quota of $4,036, is headed by Professor Andrian, and will solicit contributions from the staff and faculty of Trinity in addition to citizens of Hartford living within a mile radius of the college. Many of the faculty and their wives are helping Mr. Andrian in this work. They are Professors Candelet, Cooper, Ogilvy, Stone, and Vogel; and Mesdames Constant, Funston, and MacCracken.

Also aiding in the canvassing of outside contributors are Frank Brainard '50, Doug Harding '50, John Heikel '50, Scott Billyou '50, Jim Straley '49, Jack Hardwick '50, Sam Edsell '49, and Jim Stewart '51.

Rouse Heads Student Gifts

Marty Rouse, President of the Senior Class and captain of the baseball team, is the head of the student solicitations.

Dick Sherman, '50, will handle the contributions of Fraternity men and residents of Ogilby Hall.

Bob Herbert '50, is in charge of the canvassing of the dormitories and Brent Harries '50, is head of the soliciting of non-resident students.

The quota for the greater Hartford area in 1947 was $1,098,000 but because of the addition of two new agencies and the increased budgets of the thirty-one other agencies, the quota for 1948 is $1,231,530.

The campaign opens Monday, September 27, and closes Wednesday, October 13.

Review Plans November Date

The first issue of "The Trinity Review," the student literary magazine, should appear on the stands about November 1st, according to Editor Tom Lowry. A new format is contemplated this year, one that will stress features with contemporary interest as well as the best creative efforts in all types of writing by students.

Trinity men who have a flair for writing are encouraged to drop their contributions in Box 198 in the Post Office or to hand them to any of the editors. Especially welcome are articles of interest to students and anything in the lighter vein (a la The New Yorker). Good fiction and poetry are not discouraged.

The deadline for contributions for the initial issue is October 20.

Barber Starts New Study Plan

A new wrinkle in the study of civil administration has been added by Professor Laurence L. Barber, head of the department of Government. Advanced students, mostly Seniors, who take Government 10 will have the opportunity to apply their knowledge of civic affairs in the official offices of Hartford and nearby towns.

Their tasks will involve municipal finance, reporting and research projects. As assistants in various departments, these men will observe first hand the duties of the mayor or town selectman.

They will cooperate with Government Research Institute, an independent organization, in various surveys. Last year two students worked in the town of Farmington as tax assessors. In the future, Mr. Barber hopes to expand this program to include fields of state government.

Glee Club Plans Big Year Ahead

The Trinity College Glee Club, with an unprecedented eighty members is preparing a varied program under the direction of Professor Clarence Watters and President Paul Thomas. These men are supported by a staff consisting of Vice-President Al King, Business Manager Joe Brush, Assistant Business Manager John Petrinovic, and Head Librarian Will Pinney.

Last year, with a relatively few vocalists, the Glee Club maintained an extensive program of concerts with such schools as Pomfret, Salisbury, and Melbroke. Concerts were also held at many women's colleges and alumni meetings.

A wider selection of music is to be employed this year, Professor Watters announced. Aside from the many Glee Club traditionals, there will be more sea chanties and ever-popular Negro spirituals. Throughout the year, the club will present such major works as the "Requiem" by Mozart.

In addition to last year's program, the Glee Club has tentatively scheduled mixed concerts with Pembroke, Radcliff and the University of Connecticut.

Trinity Opens 126th Academic Year With Convocation Held In Chapel

Trinity College officially opened its One Hundred Twenty-Sixth academic year last Thursday, September 23, with the Convocation of the 1948-49 season in the College Chapel at 10 A. M. before the freshman class and numerous other members of the student body.

Led by the marshal for the occasion, Professor Waterman, the procession, consisting of the guests of honor, the faculty, and the administration, march in to the strains of organ music played by Professor Watters. As always, the many-colored hoods representing various degrees from many colleges and universities, were instrumental in painting a very impressive picture.

Following the invocation, delivered by the Reverend Gerald B. O'Grady, college chaplain, and a hymn, President G. Keith Funston spoke to the assembly.

The next speaker was the Honorable Cyril Coleman, mayor of Hartford, who told the group of the great demand and the even greater need for more men in municipal government as a profession. Although financial compensation in the field of municipal management is not as high as that of some other fields, satisfaction more than repays the man who really loves his work, the mayor said.

Governor Shannon's Greetings

His Excellency, James C. Shannon, Governor of Connecticut, told the assembly that he wished Trinity's pigskin squad unqualified success in its 1948 season. The late Governor McCaughy, who spoke at last year's opening convocation, had wished the same thing with the exception of the Wesleyan game. Governor McCaughy had previously held the office of President of Wesleyan University.

After the singing of "Nearth the Elms," the traditional Book Ceremony took place. President Funston returned the book, an old notebook, to Professor Towle, Secretary of the Faculty. The book has been touched by all graduates of the college since the first college president mistook it for his Bible at the college's initial commencement.

Following the closing prayers and benediction, delivered by the Right Reverend Walter H. Gray, Bishop Coadjutor of Connecticut, the procession filed out to the tune of martial music.

COMMONS CLUB RECEPTION

The Trinity Commons Club will hold a reception on Thursday evening in Cook Lounge from supertime until eight o'clock for those men who might be interested in joining this traditional organization. Members of the club will be on hand to explain the history, organization, and activities of the Commons Club, and to extend a cordial greeting to all.

Refreshments will be served, club officers announced.

The 1948 Ivy can be purchased from Joseph Van Why, in Woodward 13. All persons who have made a down payment for an Ivy are urged to pay the balance of $3.50 and collect their books as soon as possible in order that all business for the yearbook may be concluded.

Dean Clark Named Coordinator For Student Activities Under Hughes

Joseph C. Clarke, dean of students, has been assigned duties as Coordinator of Student Activities, it was announced recently by President Funston.

In his new capacity, Mr. Clarke will be responsible for helping student leaders in planning activity programs, working with faculty advisors, helping student organizations obtain needed facilities, and arranging college events in order to avoid conflicts.

Mr. Clarke became assistant dean last August, after serving in the Trinity physical education department since 1929. His work as assistant dean includes handling of undergraduate problems and counseling upperclassmen on courses of study. His work as assistant dean and Coordinator of Student Activities will be carried out under the direction of Dean Arthur H. Hughes. He is a member of the Faculty Committee on Student Organization. In the Athletic Department Mr. Clarke coaches varsity swimming, varsity track, and is assistant coach in varsity football. For the past sixteen summers he has served as director of the Hartford Times camp for underprivileged children and is now a member of the camp's governing board.

Mr. Clarke came to Trinity in 1929 from Springfield College, where he received a B.P.E. degree. In 1932 he was awarded an M.A. at Trinity.

Specialized Study

Somewhere in the recent past, our values took a nosedive. The tumble manifested itself, among other places, in the colleges. The old-fashioned principles of turning out a man with broad understanding, and the ability to judge and discriminate, gave way to the idea of "preparing" men for a field or vocation. The idea that every man should be a specialist in one field became vogue. The student who hoped to become a giant in economics, neglected the seemingly impractical histories, languages, and classics. His ability to express himself, to develop a common ground with his fellow man, and pass moral judgments based on the wisdom of the greatest thinkers became nil. This specialization which has set the world and our own country to cross purposes (material vs. moral) has led to frightening conditions.

(This particular institution has, for the most part, stood firm in its insistence on balanced and broad programs of study.) In order to cope with ourselves and the world, we need to re-examine the wisdom of the acknowledged "greats"; we must not shrink from the study of the many languages of this One World; and above all, we need an over-hauling of our spiritual and moral values.

The Spirit of '52

In the official welcome to the class of 1952 Boots Hölljes has reiterated the freshman rules and the purposes that lead to their adoption. Of the three reasons (see the next column) we feel that the reactivation of college spirit is the most powerful argument and in itself full justification for the program.

The TRIPOD is naturally concerned with college spirit. Like all the other college activities, as the spirit in the college and the support of the student body so goes the effectiveness of any attempts on the part of the students toward a full college life. We feel that the selection of black ties as the distinguishing sign for the freshman class is sensible and entirely without the disadvantages of the utmost inevitable cap on other campuses.

We believe that the class of 1952 will find rich opportunities in the college community in activities and interests. It is axiomatic that what any group or individual gets out of Trinity depends entirely on what is put into the community in interest and support... college spirit. That abstract quantity can't be the result of rule or dictum but must come from all of us. Whether or not we make a go of college comes down essentially to the question of whether or not we are willing to make the effort.

It is the purpose and policy of the TRINITY TRIPOD to provide the best possible coverage of campus news and views. We would like to encourage all Trinity men to use the letter column for "discussion of matters of interest to Trinity men." Your suggestions for the TRIPOD are very much in order and will help us in the effort to put out a good paper.

Shades of Things to Come — S. Rodgers

Spotting the Play

By Hank Perez

A most encouraging sign of progress was found in the new schedule sheets which were handed out during registration in Alumni Hall. The sore spot of campus religion, namely the Wednesday morning maelstrom, had been eliminated and replaced by two services, one of the same nature, the other intended to serve as an assembly time for class and smaller assemblies. The new plan will, it is hoped, eliminate the unparalleled confusion and mob-hysteria witnessed last year.

Last Thursday evening, just after reading the specially delivered notice concerning the types of beverage to be and not to be consumed on Saturday evening, we stepped out into the night for a breath of what a local J. C. of C. agent recently told us was the finest air in the country. Not having imbibed any of the vicious liquors warned against by the aforementioned communication, we were at a loss to understand the presence of two attractive young ladies on Vernon Street, scantily clad in what we later discovered to be nothing more nor less than pajamas.

Still doubtful, we proceeded on our way to the Cook Cave, where, it was rumored, stood a monster more terrible than the "GRENDLE" which is occupying a predominant position in the studies of so many of our freshmen. At first glance the animal inspired thoughts of an old LaSalle automobile once owned by one Jack Parker.

"Can it be," we thought "that he sold it for scrap iron and the manufacturer has sent it back to haunt us while its old master serves out his three years with the U. S. Navy?"

After a moment's hesitation, however, we concluded it was merely a publicity stunt on the part of the newly-formed American Vegetarian Party, currently supporting that elderly and renowned statesman and politician, Dr. John Maxwell, naturopath. The "Party," not to be outdone by the Republicans' own Dave Smith, the Democrats' Ron Urquhart, and the yet-to-be-elected successor of Don Prigge, ex-head of the campus Liberals, all prominent campus committeemen, have sent their own representative in the person of this iron-lunged diplomat which dispenses health and good cheer to all those who will listen to the many and varied guttural mutterings which emanate from his steel-inlaid bronchial tubes. We tarried for a moment and listened intently to the clear and decisive mouthings of this mechanical-lipped politician, after which we stood and drank in all the meaning of his words.

To The Class of '52

On behalf of the student government of Trinity College I have already welcomed you unofficially. It is by medium of this letter that I wish to extend an official welcome to the class of 1952.

As Trinity College neophytes there are four regulations by which you are to abide. These regulations have been drawn with three definite purposes in mind: first, to promote definite contact between upperclassmen and freshmen; second, to give the freshman the opportunity to recognize and mingle more with his fellow classmates; third, to revise a slight traditional regimentation whereby the hitherto dormant college spirit might be reactivated. The success of this program depends to a great extent upon the cooperation of the freshman class. The Freshman Regulations are as follows:

- I. Freshmen must wear black ties at all times when wearing a dress shirt while in the campus area. (Campus area bounded by the following streets: Washington St., Hillside Ave., New Britain Ave., and Ward Place.)
- II. Freshmen must speak to everyone they meet on the immediate campus.
- III. Freshmen must not cut across the campus; sidewalks are to be used.
- IV. Freshmen must remain seated at all college assemblies until faculty and upperclassmen have adjourned.

Violations of these regulations are to be reported to the Senate with the name and room number of the violator.

The freshman class has made a grand start. Let's see you finish the job.

Sincerely yours,

Boots Hölljes,
President of the Senate.

Musical Notes

By George Stowe

Billy Rose, the entertainment entrepreneur of Broadway, recently stirred up a mild tempest with his syndicated articles on the opera and its "salvation." Perhaps now that the Metropolitan has solved its union problems and will, after all, open this season, it may choose to stuffily ignore the proposals Billy had to offer. But it would be much more to the Met's advantage if it took heed to a few practical suggestions from a theatrical man who knows the game inside and out.

From the connoisseur's point of view Billy may not "know his opera" or be aware of operatic tradition (which may be fortunate), but he knows the theater and what makes it tick, and how to produce a show that is profitable. When he speaks on matters theatrical he speaks with authority. A case in point is the matter of scene-shifting.

Every time the Met changes the operatic bill it costs four thousand dollars to shift the scenery. And this is no negligible item when you consider that the bill changes almost every night during the regular season. His suggestion, that not more than two operas be produced weekly, seems commendable. If the Met doesn't have singers enough for a three or four day run of an opera, this is their opportunity to develop understudies and give younger or unknown singers a break. After all, Melchior can't last forever.

We imagine that Billy would be one of the first to deny that he possesses the know-all to be artistic director for the Met. But that's no surefire guarantee that he hasn't a few constructive suggestions which might improve things. Not only do some of the singers need a little streamlining, but opera production in general could stand a wholesale overhauling. Why should opera production have remained static in the last fifty years, while other forms of theatrical entertainment have changed with the times?

What New York needs today is a competitor like the old Manhattan Opera (which Oscar Hammerstein sponsored around the turn of the century). Some really healthy rivalry might bring about some needed changes. For too long a time the Metropolitan has had the monopoly.

The Reviewer

By Scott Billyou

The TRIPOD seems to feel some responsibility to the Common Man, not the Discriminating, in that it will print in this space weekly a sort of medicine; here you will find the only printed sedative in the paper. After seeing a tiresome movie or play, you needn't read this column because it will only advance your state of boredom. After seeing an exciting movie or play and you can't get to sleep, read this column. We guarantee that you'll be asleep by the time you've read ten lines—ten lines of this column is normal adult's dose.

However, in the cause of social medicine, I'll send this sleep-provoking column down the ways, pitying myself for not having a christening bottle of champagne.

With all due respects to the New Yorker, here is a "Statement We Doubt Was Ever Made Except By a Press Agent."

RKO has signed James Grant and Art Cohn for the re-write job on "I Married a Communist". Said Bob Young: "I have four children—a mighty big stake in America. I think Communism is the most sinister menace we've ever faced. The danger of the Communist is that he's a guy you might meet in your living room. I have certain ideas about the picture, and believe it should open with the school teacher's fall from the Russian Consulate in New York."

Maybe Young's publicity man hoped, with this statement of feeling, to steal some headlines from J. Parnell Thomas. Anyway, Bob Young and/or his press agent must have been sold by the Russian accounts of the incident, because all respectable papers east of Beverly Hills accepted the fact that Mrs. Kasenkina jumped out of the Consulate window.

Alfred Hitchcock's latest thriller, "Rope", is perhaps his best technically. It has been produced with the greatest attention to details and realism; it has extraordinarily contrasting periods of tenseness and morbid humour. This movie is good escapism; good because it doesn't require any thinking or belief in the characters. The story is simple: two prep-school-mates strangle a third for the artistic thrill they hope to derive from the murder prompted by a theory offered by their former house-master that "superiors should be able to erase inferiors without any responsibility for their action to society." The theory as acted, however, is so effectively presented that the house-master's later recantation sounds like so much "corn".

Trinity Traditions

Trinity enjoys a long standing friendship and rivalry with a University in Middletown spoken of by polite citizens as Wesleyan. Without going into the "Trinity loves Wesleyan and Wesleyan loves Trinity" routine there are many contacts in the form of fraternities in common and, of course, the annual football game.

In the "Treasury" of the Chapel there is a unique chess set which is well worth the trouble of seeing and studying. Inadequate as the above cut is, a slight perusal will indicate the line of sympathies which lead to its creation.

On the left side of the picture can be discerned the formidable Wesleyan line-up. The rooks are orators of the heavy school while the bishops have a Dickensque sharpness. The knights are, on closer inspection, overweight lads whose jerseys fail to compensate for the expanse of beef. The king and queen (Wes Prexy and Missus) have expressions which it would be unpolitic for the Tripod to discuss. The pawns are sweet little things with a marked propensity toward thumb-sucking and innocence, a hybrid of Little Lord Fauntleroy and brat.

On the other side of the board the atmosphere is that of all which is gallant, noble and pious. The rooks are monuments of dignity and learning; the king, queen and bishops have restraint and character; and the knights embody virile valiance. The pawns give an accurate picture of the typical Trinity man in his good humoured courage, intelligence and manliness. At least on the Trinity side there is a remarkable picture of our undeniable virtues.

From time to time the TRIPOD will present a picture of those things which are valued as Trinity Traditions.

Tryouts for "Pipes" Will Be Tomorrow

Tryouts for three vacant positions in the Trinity "Pipes," famed campus octet, will be held tomorrow (Thursday) evening at 9 o'clock in the music room, Seabury 17.

The "Pipes," which have been an integral part of campus life for eight years, have appeared over WRTC and Hartford radio stations, and have been featured at the annual Sophomore Hop, Junior Prom, and Senior Ball.

The ever-popular eight have also sung at fraternity parties and campus dances and for several private organizations in Greater Hartford. Two years ago the "Pipes" composed and recorded an album of favorite songs, and this year their program is to be augmented by such additions as concerts with the Smith College "Smithereens," to be held both at Smith and at Trinity.

Present members of the Pipes include: Bob Hamilton and Paul Thomas, second basses; Dave Mercer, baritone; Dick Garrison, second tenor; and Jim Stewart, first tenor. There are openings for a first and second tenor and for a baritone, and it is expected that a large number of students will try out for these vacancies.

New Band Director Begins Rehearsals

Practicing in Alumni Hall, the band began rehearsals on Tuesday, September 21, under the direction of Mr. Merle Walker of Hartford. A large group including many freshmen, turned out for the first rehearsal.

Mr. Walker, who has had a great deal of experience in teaching new musicians, will hold rehearsals every Tuesday and Thursday at 4:00 o'clock in Alumni Hall. Anyone wishing to join the band is invited to attend one of the rehearsals. Woodwinds especially are needed, according to Mr. Walker.

A full schedule faces the band, as it will play at all the home football games and possibly at some of the games away. It also hopes to give several concerts at the college.

Trin Inaugurates New Drama Course

A new course in dramatic technique has been offered to the three upper classes this fall, with the purpose of illustrating drama as an art. Prospective Bachelor of Arts students may satisfy their fine arts requirement by taking this six credit hour drama course.

The only class scheduled this year will be under the instruction of Mr. Vogel, who will also be in charge of the "Jesters". A thorough study of acting and stage direction is to be made with the "Jesters'" productions as examples to be studied, analyzed, and criticized. Scene construction, the proper use of such sets, and the effective use of lighting are to be included.

Mr. Vogel emphasized that the new course is entirely separate from the "Jesters" and requires no previous stage experience.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

September 29:
Deadline for changing courses.
Commons Club, 5:45 Cook Lounge.

September 30:
Commons Club, 6:00-8:00 Cook Lounge.
Trinity Nautical Association, 7:30 Woodward Lounge.

October 4:

American Society for Tool Engineers, 8:00 Chemistry Auditorium.

Boosters Provide Bus to Williams

Trinity students who wish to attend the opening football game of the season this Saturday at Williams will have the opportunity of making the trip in chartered busses according to Harry Bingham, president of the Boosters Club. The busses will leave Trinity at 10:30 on Saturday morning and return approximately half an hour after game. The donation is $3.50 for the round trip. The price of the game tickets is not expected to run over two dollars. Tickets are on sale this week in front of Middle Seabury.

"Has Anyone Seen Bolita?"

By Jacque Hopkins

Luis Maestre, or, as his Spanish classmates called him, "Bolita", is beginning his freshman year at Trinity College. Luis has come from Madrid, Spain to study for his degree in engineering. Curious as to why Luis came to Trinity, I talked to him the other day and was amazed to learn of the many differences between the Spanish and American educational systems.

In Spain, all the colleges and universities are operated by the government. The government conducts the admissions examinations and selects the students who will be admitted. The requirements are high and the courses tough. For example, to receive his degree in engineering, a student must take a six to seven-year course. This is also true, Luis remarked, for law, agricultural, and architectural majors. During these six or seven years, there are few social activities for the students. Even Spain's finest university, the Ciudad Universitaria in Madrid, has introduced sports only recently. College newspapers are found only in a few schools.

Most of the universities offer an education and no more. Luis said that the college officials have little interest in the problems of the students, while in America, the college officials make every effort to help freshmen to adjust themselves to college life.

I was surprised to learn that it is not necessary to come from a wealthy family to enter college. Although university expenses are comparatively high, the Spanish government offers a number of scholarships to promising students who wish to go on to college.

Many changes are being made in the universities, Luis said. The Ciudad Universitaria is taking the lead in modernizing the campus and the curriculum, but Spain still has a long way to go.

WRTC FORMALLY OPENS

WRTC, the campus radio station, will commence its regular broadcasting schedule on Friday, October 1. The station will be on the air with news, sports and music Monday through Friday during the school year from 4 to 11 p.m.

McGaw Elected New Ad Chief

John McGaw '51 was named advertising manager of the Tripod for the current year at the first regular meeting of the Executive Board this semester. McGaw replaces James Scannell '50 who resigned as advertising manager in August due to ill health and was unable to return to college this year. McGaw was appointed acting advertising manager upon receipt of Scannell's resignation by Editor-in-Chief Bob Herbert.

The Executive Board was established under the Tripod constitution adopted last May. The board is composed of the editor-in-chief, managing editor, and two representatives elected by the staff. It appoints all editors (except the editor-in-chief, business manager, and managing editor), elects men to the staff, and determines the editorial and business policies of the paper.

The present members of the executive board are Robert Herbert, Robert Bowdin, Leonel Mitchell, Stanley Rodgers, and Lenard Overton. They were elected by the staff last May and serve a one-year term.

McGaw transferred to Trinity from the Extension last February and since that time has been very active on the news and advertising staffs of the Tripod.

New Faculty

his separation from the Army in 1946, he returned to the University of North Carolina for graduate study, and was appointed Instructor in History in September 1946. He is a member of the American Historical Association.

Alphonse J. Bellavia of Rochester, New York, has been appointed Instructor in Romance Languages at Trinity.

Mr. Bellavia is a graduate of Denison University, Granville, Ohio, and received his master's degree from Middlebury College in June 1948. He has also studied at the University of Rochester and was teacher of foreign languages at Pillsbury Academy in Owatonna, Minnesota, from 1940 until 1942. During World War II Mr. Bellavia served as an interpreter in the European theater. After his discharge in 1945, he taught foreign languages in Rochester high schools.

Edwin Norman Nilson of Bloomfield has been appointed Assistant Professor of Mathematics at Trinity College. Dr. Nilson replaces Dr. Feodor Theilheimer who joined the Naval Ordnance Research Laboratory in June.

Dr. Nilson, a graduate of Trinity College in the class of 1937, received his master's degree in 1938 and his doctorate in 1941, both from Harvard. He taught mathematics at Harvard and the University of Maryland, and served as Assistant Professor of Mathematics at Mount Holyoke College. During the war he taught mathematics and seamanship at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Dr. Nilson, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, is the author of a book and several articles on mathematics.

George W. Adams of Gardners, Pa., has been appointed research assistant of the Trinity College Library.

Mr. Adams, a graduate of Dickinson College and the Drexel School of Library Science, has been on the staff of the Newark, N.J., Public Library since 1946 and previously served as Librarian at the Free Library of Philadelphia, the Lincoln City Library of Lincoln, Nebraska, and the University of Pennsylvania Library.

During the war Mr. Adams served with the Eighth Air Force in England on military police duty.

Dr. Francis L. Lundborg has been appointed Medical Director, succeeding Dr. Horace C. Swan who retired in June.

A graduate of Trinity in the Class of 1924, Dr. Lundborg received his master's degree from Trinity before entering medical school at Yale University where he was graduated in 1930. He has practiced in Hartford since his graduation. During the war, he served in the Army Medical Corps in the United States and France.

Community Chest

In a message to the college on the eve of the commencement of the 1948 campaign Professor Andrian said, "I know that Trinity College will be one hundred percent represented in the 1948 Community Chest Campaign. Trinity's record in previous Chest campaigns has always been excellent. This year, due to the rise in the cost of living, of which we are all very much aware, the needs of the thirty-three Community Chest agencies have correspondingly risen. We must, therefore, excel all previous records made by Trinity College."

Camera Club Lays Plans for Meeting

Promised the use of the fully equipped darkroom in the Physics Building, the Trinity Camera Club has started reorganization for the year with plans for an early meeting being drafted by Ron Tostevin, one of last year's members.

Tostevin urged anyone interested in the Club to contact him at his room in Cook C-21 or through the Post Office at Box 56. He stated that a meeting would be called soon at a time convenient for those who have indicated interest, and emphasized that no experience is necessary.

The darkroom in Jarvis Physics Building is equipped with enlarger, tanks, printing frames, hot and cold water, and everything necessary for the Club's members. Use of the room is restricted to Club members and those approved by the group.

And So it Goes

By Bill Wetter

This column planned to go on record last spring as predicting a St. Louis Cards-New York Yankees series this October, but luckily this fact never reached the TRIPOD. The Boston Braves, which seem to be the campus favorite in the National League this summer, clinched their first flag in thirty-four years. Meanwhile, hot arguments are raging over the junior circuit's outcome.

But since baseball is beginning to fade in interest in favor of football it seems only right to look over the gridiron, and especially Trinity's 1948 prospects. The Hilltoppers will find Middlebury, Amherst and Wesleyan the toughest opponents, nevertheless Williams and Worcester will be troublesome. Co-captains Joe Ponsalle and Mitch Holmgren will spearhead a rugged forward wall, while "Whitey" Kunkiewicz should enjoy another great year.

Pass Receiving Is the Big Question

In order that Trinity might become an even more explosive team than last year's fast flying eleven, the pass receiving department will have to sharpen up. Last fall, too many passes eluded Trin's receivers and thereby cost them several scores. With only one sensational end, or back to gobble in "Whitey's" heaves, Trinity could practically call their score. Charlie Osborn made several sensational catches in the Middlebury game, and Bill Pitkin brought the fans to their feet more than once when he snared bullets for long gains.

The winged "T" formation offers the deception of the "T", but also lends itself to more "power" running. Carroll, Eblen and Hall should be able to crash through for long gains while Corcoran and Barrows are racing around the ends.

Williams Game This Saturday

Dan Jessee will be able to see how quickly his proteges have taken to his tutelage this week-end when the team will travel to Williamstown to engage the Ephmen. Last year the blue and gold romped over Len Watters' gridders 33-0, almost scoring at will. The Ephmen lost every game they played last season, but already have bettered last year's record when they downed Norwich last Saturday.

It is also interesting to note that Middlebury routed Hobart, while Amherst was running up the score on Rochester. The schedule is undoubtedly tougher than last year's, and the team has very few breathers. The team can not even stop to think of the Wesleyan game next November, because it must point to each game on the schedule.

Intramurals To Have New Look

Stu Parks is the new director of Intramurals for the '48-'49 year. Stu has announced his plans to include winter sports in the scoring for the Alumni Cup, captured last year by Sigma Nu. The plans include the expansion of sports in the three seasons to include golf, fall tennis, volley ball, etc. The student body certainly should be more sports conscious this year, and it is hoped that many teams will immediately be formed by the neutrals.

The first soccer contest is not until next week. Worcester Tech will afford the competition to Harold R. Shetter, the new Hilltopper's mentor. We want to wish Captain Jay Geiger and the entire team good luck this season under their new coach.

Say, Who's Going To Win?

The cry of "Who's going to win?" will be echoed many times around campus this fall. This corner wishes to present its selections for next week-end. Trinity will win out over Williams without a doubt. Bowdoin will find Wesleyan too tough, while Amherst is running up its second win over Coast Guard. Yale and Princeton should beat UConn and Brown very easily. Notre Dame, Army, S.M.U., and Penn State are always good choices. Navy will down Cornell (it says here), as Columbia jolts Harvard. Finally, look for Catawba to nose out High Point!

Parks Plans Expanded Program In New Capacity As Director Of Intramurals

The intramural sports program for the coming year promises to be largest and best that has been seen at Trinity College. The head of the intramural sports, Stu Parks, said the board was trying to install a wider variation of activities as a start in the expansion plan. The aim of the board is to permit as many students as possible, who are interested to participate in some activity.

The new fall activities will include individual tennis and golf matches. These matches will be played in as evenly matched flights as possible. Those interested in playing in these matches may sign up anytime from Monday to Friday of this week. Activities of this type permit many more students to participate, and will not interfere with other activities as there is no limit to the number of activities that may be entered by any individual.

Board Set Up

The intramural board will concentrate this year on the organization of the independent groups on campus. The four groups which now exist do not allow all the interested students to enter, so the board is going to attempt to organize more independent groups. These should be enough to cover all interests. Fraternities, which should already be fairly well organized, will not receive much attention along this line from the board. Organization of the separate touch football clubs should begin at once, as the schedule will start in about a week.

We are all looking forward to an exciting year in intramural sports with very keen competition for the prize cup.

Cross-Country Team Under Lemieux Faces Uncertain Prospects

Under the guidance of Ed Lemieux, last year's cross-country captain and coach, and holder of the Trinity two mile record, the varsity and freshman cross-country teams will open another season of running against the Lord Jeffs of Amherst on October 8, with the outlook uncertain.

The 1948 varsity runners will be captained by Don Wolford, a varsity miler, while other mainstays from last year will include half-miler, Bob Barry (Bob did not run cross-country last year) along with Jack Kearns, William Brown, Bill Hardy, Hugh Billingsley, Richard Warren, Don Murray, Steve Pressey and Ed Roth of the 1947 freshman aggregation. The remainder of the squad will consist of Maurer, Talboom, Anderson and Zenowitz.

Although fifteen enthusiastic freshmen are working out regularly around campus, little is known about the potentialities of the squad. Last year's frosh runners compiled a record of three wins, two setbacks and one tie contest while the varsity men dropped all six of their tilts in a tough schedule.

The 1948 varsity schedule appears below:

Oct. 8—*Amherst
Oct. 15—Mass. U.
Oct. 20—Worcester Tech.
Oct. 25—*Wesleyan
Oct. 29—*Middlebury
Nov. 5—Springfield
Nov. 10—*New England Intercollegiate
*Meets Away.

Fifty-Six Frosh Out for Football

The largest turnout for Frosh football in many years was recorded last week when fifty-six men reported to Frederick Booth, Trin's new coach. The team has quickly settled down to the work at hand, and already has given promise in ability and depth.

However, it will not be until October 15, when the team travels to Springfield, the alma mater of Mr. Booth, that anyone can tell just how good it is, and what kind of help it will be to the Varsity next year.

Three Backfields

The team possesses three good backfield combinations, none of which can be named the first team because of the excellent play of all the men. Goralski, Gannon, French, Buffer, Smith, Lawler, Vibert, and Magnoli are just a few of the performers. Bill Nakaso, 140 pound quarterback, has looked especially good on hand-off plays.

The forward wall is heavily manned too, many men being stars in local high schools.

Shetter and Booth Assume Positions To Coach Soccer and Frosh Football

Soccermen Practice As Shetter's Call Attracts 30 Hopefuls

Well, the golden-toed boys are at it again. Last Tuesday, thirty men turned out to the call of Coach Shetter's whistle for the initial practice of the season. Among some of the formidable men remaining from last year's squad we find Jay Gieger, captain and one of last year's leading scorers. Dick Winchell, who, with three years' experience behind him, is also a mainstay. At goalie we find dependable Hank Goodyear, considered by many a standout goalie. Bole Wood, Ralph Marshall, and Dick Roy, all of last year's squad also seem to be in fine shape and ready for another good year.

Moving up from last year's Freshman squad are: Dave Mercer, Cort Nelson, Jimmy Walker and Bob Eliot. All of these men show promise and are sure to see action.

The first game of the season will be played on October 9 with Worcester Tech at home. From all indications the squad is in fine physical shape and hopes to have one of the finest seasons ever at Trinity.

Frosh Outlook

Now to look at the Freshman squad. Coach Shetter has been also working with the Frosh squad. The task of building a new squad will be difficult, for many men will have to be looked over closely. Fighting for berths on the first team are: Dave Hatfield, center-forward who scored the only goal for the Frosh in a 2-1 defeat by the varsity. Besides Dave, two foreign boys are working for berths; they are Dick Hunter who hails from England, and "Spike" Rogokos, from Athens, Greece. Hunter is aggressive and has a good toe. Spike seems to know the game and has seen considerable action in Greece. At goalie, is Kent Hatch, who is inexperienced but shows promise. The first game is at home with Windsor High, October 9.

Lemieux Is Appointed Cross-Country Mentor

By Bob Blum

The Trinity College Athletic Association welcomes to its coaches' roster this year Frederick H. Booth and Harold R. Shetter, both newcomers to the college coaching world. Mr. Booth is at present coaching Freshman football, while Mr. Shetter has taken the position, held the past two years by J. Bruce Munro before his departure for Harvard, of coaching varsity and Freshman soccer.

Mr. Booth comes originally from Southold, Long Island, where he attended high school. In 1939 he matriculated at Middlebury College, and transferred in 1941 to Springfield College. He entered the Air Corps, where he served in the physical training department, coaching teams in football, basketball, and baseball at Sioux Falls, S. D. Following his discharge in December, 1945, he re-entered Springfield, where he won letters in football and baseball, co-captaining the team last fall. He graduated in February, but did graduate work for a term. As yet, Mr. Booth has no concrete prediction to make for his Freshman eleven. He will also coach Freshman basketball.

Shetter New Soccer Coach

Mr. Shetter's career in both college and service is equally outstanding. Coming from East Berlin, Pa., where he attended high school, Shetter entered West Chester State Teachers' College, traditionally an athletic powerhouse in Eastern Pennsylvania. After two years, in 1943, he entered the Navy, which put him through midshipman school at Northwestern University. He attained the rank of Lieutenant, j.g., and served in the Pacific on an attack transport for two years. He returned to West Chester, and graduated in January, 1948. Harold won Frosh letters in baseball and basketball, and three varsity letters and captaincy in both soccer and tennis. After a graduate term at Columbia, he came to Trinity, where he will coach tennis, in addition to his soccer duties.

A third addition to the coaching staff is Trinity's own Edward Lemieux, of the Class of 1948, holder of Cross-Country and two-mile records. Ed will coach Cross-Country, as he did last year, for that matter, although he was its star runner at the time. Placed in the peculiar position of being robbed of his best material of last year—himself, Ed will do a tough job well in fashioning good varsity and frosh teams out of inexperienced men.

Varsity Gridmen Open Season Saturday with Williams; Outlook Bright with Returning Stars to Steady Team

Jessee Starts 14th Year As Trin Mentor

By Elton Smith

This fall, Trinity will play its 71st season of intercollegiate football. Dan Jessee, coach of the Hilltoppers, is now putting his 14th Trinity team in shape for this season. Jessee possesses one of the longest coaching careers in New England, being out-ranked by only two men. The coach of the Blue and Gold has a record of 57 wins out of 87 games, and he is again looking forward to a season that will show many victories with few and possibly no defeats.

Last year Trinity rolled over most of her opponents by large scores. However, a good record this year will not be quite as easy to compile as that of last year. Several opponents have improved considerably since last fall.

Williams, the first school on the Trinity schedule, has a very tough team. Trin took them for a 33-0 ride in 1947, but the Ephmen had an undefeated Frosh team last year that is expected to supply the Varsity with promising material for the coming season. Stu Duffield, Dick Whitman, and ends Cool and Fisher are the men on the team to watch. In their first game of the season Williams beat Norwich 14-0.

Middlebury Improves

Middlebury looks impressive this year. They beat Hobart last week 33-13. Amherst, a school that holds a 24-9 edge over Trinity teams, will again field a team that will be tough for the Hilltoppers to handle. Last Saturday the Lord Jeffs demonstrated their scoring power by beating Rochester 26-6.

Wesleyan also will be no easy team to beat this year, but with the loss of a few key men Jessee and his crew are hoping to make up for the blots left on Trinity records for the last two years by the Cardinals from Middletown.

In the words of Coach Dan Jessee: "We have a tough team, better than that of last year. They are a smarter, more experienced, and more versatile squad than the team of 1947." Even with the tough schedule, the coach believes that Trinity can do as well if not better than last year.

Line Is Strong

The 1948 team will be led on the field by co-captains Mitch Holmgren and Joe Ponsalle. The team will be minus only four lettermen of last year's team. Roger Bestor, captain in 1947, Bob Boland, Hal Heintz, and Bill Powell are the missing men.

The end positions, although showing promise of strengthening, are the biggest problem that line coach Stu Parks has to face. Bill Pitkin, who will go at one end, caught 4 touchdown passes last year. Showing promise at the other end are Charlie Osborn and Ken Kochanski with Page and Noonan seeing frequent action as reserves.

The squad will be strong at the tackles with Holmgren and Ponsalle operating. Backing these men up are John Root, Brent Harries, Stu Holden, Frank Sherman, and three men up from the Frosh team: Dick DePaolis, John Zazzaro, and Don Surgenor.

Returning Men Fill Spots

Merlin Kolakowski and Jim McDon-

Co-Captains Joe Ponsalle and Mitch Holmgren

nell will be probable starters at the guards, switching assignments with Fritz Albright and Joe Baltronis, who were handicapped by injuries last year. Providing reserve strength are Ted Camilleri, Bill Trousdale, Fred Campbell, Dave Simmons and Bill Quortrup from the Freshman team of last year. New men are John Trousdale and Grant McIntosh.

Center spot will be taken care of by holdovers Dick Seymour, Oberg, and Lyn Ratcliffe, a former freshman squad star.

Going again at quarterback is Trinity's ace passer and signal caller, Whitey Kunkiewicz. Last year he gained 517 yards on 31 completed passes, and he is the key man in Dan Jessee's T-formation attack. Understudying him is Ed Ludorf, who shows promise enough to be rated as Whitey's probable successor.

John Carroll and Jack Corcoran are expected to alternate at the left half spot. Carroll made a 95-yard touchdown run last year and showed himself to be very fast on other occasions. Corcoran gained 497 yards last season and scored 8 touchdowns to lead the team in total points scored. Speedy Jim Pickett, a star as a Freshman, will be backing up these two men.

Barrows at Wingback

Bob Barrows, who did well in what little service he saw during the 1947 season, will be in there at right half back. He averaged over a 10-yard gain on the 15 times he carried the ball and scored two touchdowns. Hal Schwerdtferger and Tom Naud are new sophomore stars ready to lend a hand when needed.

Frank Eblen and Roger Hall are to handle the fullback position with Joe Rekas supplying the reserve strength.

A more varied passing attack is looked for from the Hilltoppers this season. Hall, Carroll, and Barrows are expected to assist Kunkiewicz in the aerial attack. This will spread out the enemy's defense and leave it more vulnerable to ground attacks.

Wesmen Nine Stopped Julavits Hurls Gem

In its final game of the 1948 season, Trinity's baseball nine, playing perhaps its best game of the year, beat Wesleyan 1-0, in a thrilling mound duel between Trinity ace, Joe Julavits, and the Cardinal's Frosty Francis. Twice postponed, the game nevertheless drew a large crowd last May 27th. Although he allowed seven hits for Wesleyan to Trinity's six, Julavits demonstrated excellent control as he scattered them over nine innings, while the Hilltoppers combined two hits and a walk in the bottom of the seventh for the winning margin. The first play of the game was pulled by shortstop Bob Barrows, who seemed to find himself at last. Bob made a beautiful running catch of a mediocre peg to catch a Wesman stealing second and cut off a scoring threat.

Sports Horizon

By Marshall Rankin

For the first issue of the Tripod for this year, this column deems it appropriate to set forth a word of welcome for the three new men who have been incorporated into Trinity's present athletic regime.

Frederick J. Booth, who will coach the Frosh gridiron squad this fall, has his work cut out for him. The "Boothmen" as we shall nickname the team, have been practicing long and hard, and although it may be a bit too early to predict just what we may expect this season, it appears that the present eleven will give all its opponents a rough battle.

We should also like to greet with equal enthusiasm Harold Shetter and Ed Lemieux. The former is a hard conscientious worker, and may be expected to inspire the two soccer squads he coaches to successful campaigns. The latter is no stranger to Trin, as Lemieux fashioned out a fine reputation as a track and cross-country star for the Hilltoppers. We're sure the Freshmen and Varsity cross-country outfits are in capable hands.

Gridmen Set For Great Year

Of tremendous interest not only to the undergraduates but equally to football fans all over New England, is the 1948 edition of Dan Jessee's football eleven. Everyone knows that the likeable mentor came within an ace of achieving the Blue and Gold's first undefeated campaign since 1934, last year. The Hilltoppers scored a total of 189 points to a scant 46 for the opposition.

Discounting all that has been said to the contrary, to all intent and purpose, this year's aggregation should be one of the most powerful in the 125 year's history of Trinity. With fresh strength added from the frosh, plus the fact that only three lettermen have graduated or are missing from last year, adds up to a glorious season barring unforeseen circumstances. Whitey Kunkiewicz, already an experienced operator of the T-formation, should have his greatest year. His bullet-like forwards have been the scourge of the opposition for two years. The line, sparked by co-captains Joe Ponsalle and Mitch Holmgren, should prove immovable to enemy backfield men, desirous of gaining that "precious last yard" needed for a first down.

It has been announced with considerable satisfaction that Hartford's leading radio station, WTIC, will broadcast two Trinity home games (Amherst and Norwich), and in addition the Wesleyan contest at Middletown on November 13th, the last game on the schedule.

Intramural Program Expanded and Improved

It is interesting to note with great interest that Stuart Parks, likeable assistant football coach and gym instructor, has been named to the position of Director of Intramural Athletics. As a matter of fact, the new director has promised such an expanded and improved program, that the Athletic department is thinking of assigning a special office to him, with a sign at the desk reading, "Mr. Parks, Director of Intramural Athletics" (according to rumor, at least). In all seriousness, though, Stu will do an excellent job as many will testify, and we may expect the utmost in perfection and completeness.

New Memorial Field House

You have no doubt noticed the progress being made on Trinity's new memorial field house. This fine structure will serve in large measure in helping to improve and enlarge Trin's athletic facilities. We may expect construction to be completed by November, at the latest.

Tradition, etc.

Following the channels of tradition, this column will throughout the gridiron season, make an effort to pick the winners of the outstanding football games. The listing for Saturday, October 2: Trinity over Williams; Amherst over Coast Guard; Middlebury over Bates; Wesleyan over Bowdoin; Rutgers over Colgate; Columbia over Harvard; Yale over Connecticut; Navy over Cornell; Penn over Dartmouth; Holy Cross over Syracuse; Duke over Tennessee; North Carolina over Georgia; Georgia Tech over Tulane; Kentucky over Mississippi; Southern Methodist over Texas Tech; Illinois over Wisconsin; Michigan over Oregon; Minnesota over Nebraska; Northwestern over Purdue; Ohio State over Southern California; Washington over Oregon State; Brown over Princeton.

Down Fraternity Row

ALPHA DELTA PHI, while entertaining members of the "black tie" squad this week has also been enjoying the varied summer 'tails' related by the returning brothers. Brother Jon Lambert just "sailed" right through the summer, while Brothers Bellis, Cromwell, Frank Lambert, and Edsall caught some credits at Western Maryland. "Sandhog" Heistand strengthened Harrisburg's water department personnel, and "Frenchie" Boyle apparently located something interesting a-broad. Crusher Van Horne is now an authority on Texas pipe line. The fan mail is pouring in from the Midwest for Brother Kirschner after his visit. Brother Charlie Sanford, '48, has a new addition to the family. Brother Redd Crafts is now known as Badger, following his family's recent opportunity to homestead in Wisconsin. We are all glad to be back, and are very impressed by the fine Freshman Class now diggin' in here at Trin. Coll. Sanc. Here's luck to them all!

ALPHA CHI RHO is seriously considering renaming the Crow House the Shamrock A. C. in honor of its new "Kelly Green" trim. It is rumored that talent scouts from Lucky Strike have offered Brent Harries a job as a tobacco auctioneer, after the masterful way he raffled off their favorite cigarette at the party Saturday night. Brent has again earned a rising vote of thanks from the Crows for his handling of the Freshman dance and the rest of the rushing program. Also on the list for congratulations is Jay Howell '48 who was married this month. Bob Herbert is keeping the house well supplied with English cigarettes brought back from his trip to England. Unfortunately Howie Burger didn't bring a case of champagne back from his excursion to Paris. The Crows wish a speedy recovery to Jim Scannell and hope that he will be out of the hospital and back in college next semester.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON began the new academic year with what we modestly claim to be the best and most terrific party Vernon Street witnessed last Saturday. In fact, ol' H.M.S. Toon was almost forced to man his lifeboat in order to accommodate the innumerable mass of humanity and femininity that crowded the gateways of number 98. Thanks must go to Bob "Shoulders" Norment, under whose direction the evening's venture was run off with clocklike precision, and to Brothers Armstrong and Norman, who performed yeoman service behind the bar. Our only hope is that the freshmen spent as enjoyable and as interesting an evening as we did. While still on the subject, this is probably as good a time as any to welcome the class of '52, replete with black ties, and to wish them luck throughout the year—they'll need it.

PSI UPSILON greeted the opening of the Freshman hunting season with mixed feelings. Gus Stewart expressed himself with "Oh Boy! Free Beer!" while Ben "Napoleon" Byers was heard to mutter "Here's where I drop off the Dean's list." On the ninth day with the black-cravated frosh full of ginger ale and the house full of black-cravated frosh, Brother "Chuckles" Chidsey finally arrived from the outside world replete with his open-toed orange shoes. The house was very much relieved when Brother Mike "Caisson" Mitchell recovered from his strange illness. Mike, himself, also was very much relieved. Saturday night's fiasco highlighted the rushing and many thanks are due Brother Sandy "little black book" Gordon for acquiring so many unattached "femees fatales." However, it appeared that Brother "Duck" MacClellan preferred to bring his own. Note: Over the weekend, Brother Mecasky switched his brand to Tareytons.

SIGMA NU was pleased to see that all the Freshmen and Brothers enjoyed themselves Saturday night. A vote of thanks goes to Bill Jetter for making all the arrangements. Bob Landers was seen in his new car with four girls. How do you explain that Rob? The Commander reported that damage was slight and that nothing disappeared. We were all glad to hear that, Dave. Brother Ransom claims that he is getting a double dose of "rushing" this year. That's what you get for staying out west, "Lucky." During the summer Bob Wood got married. Congratulations and the best of luck, "Woody." The house wishes to thank the brothers and pledges who spent time this summer varnishing the floors and painting. Wednesday night the chapter will pledge the Freshmen; so let's all get ready to welcome the new men.

DELTA PSI: The return of the men of St. Anthony to the elms and the books transpired quietly—almost as if the event was not of world-shaking importance. It was, though, to many a dear, young thing whose summer had been made bright by the company of one of our number. Two of us took fateful steps regarding these—Dave Austin is now a married man, and Dave McGaw is so committed. Heppenstahl's income tax may be high this year, according to a Rockledge greenskeeper. The Dickey-Hollyday taxi service is no longer in operation. Said Jim, "The risk was too great." Detwiler and Stearns are sporting what appear to be Phi Bet keys. Well, the "Athletics" proved that anything can happen.

DELTA PHI takes this opportunity to extend its heartiest welcome to the incoming freshman class. After two weeks of fatherly advice, great hilarity, and all the trimmings that add to the turmoil of rush week, we finally sigh and settle slowly down to normalcy. By this time the rubble has been cleared up, leaving only a memory of an highly successful party last Saturday Night. As always, we thank our inimitable Mrs. Powers for her part in putting on one of her famous buffets. Among the prominent social functions of the summer past were the marriages of Brother Charles Riley to the former Miss Marilyn Kelly, of Hartford, that of Brother Thomas Lowry to the former Miss Jean Day, of West Hartford, and the announcement of the engagement of Brother Norman Torrey to Miss Nancy Richmond, of Darien, Conn. To them the Sigma Chapter extends its congratulations. THETA XI is getting back into the full swing of events after a busy summer. We fear, however, that the environment of a mental institution has had its effects on Brother Parlan. On the other hand, it may only have been caused by the jogging of "Robbie's" new car. It seems, however, that we have lost two members of our little group. The bad news came at the beginning of the week that Austin's squirrels had departed from the dear old "terra firma." Rod Crittenden spent the summer working in a local bank in Rochester, and came back with pockets full of nothing, however, Brother Richmond came back loaded after a few months on the road gang. But they let him off easy, he should have gotten six.
